Total returns are calculated using the sell (exit) price, net of management fees and gross of tax as if distributions of income have been reinvested at the actual distribution reinvestment price. The actual returns received by an investor will depend on the timing, buy and exit prices of individual transactions. Return of capital and the performance of your investment in the fund are not guaranteed. Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future performance. Figures showing a period of less than one year have not been adjusted to show an annual total return. Figures for periods of greater than one year are on a per annum compound basis. The current benchmark may not have been the benchmark over all periods shown in the above chart and tables. The calculation of the benchmark performance links the performance of previous benchmarks and the current benchmark over the relevant time periods.

Commentary

The return of the Australian Ethical Fixed Interest Fund (Wholesale) for the June Quarter was -3.91% net of fees. Retail units declined -3.96% net of fees. The fund benchmark, the Bloomberg Ausbond Composite Bond Index 0+ declined -3.81%. The June quarter continued the same themes that were present in the March Quarter, with yields rising considerably and credit spreads widening. Markets have moved to price an aggressive response from central banks to high rates of inflation, with expectations they will need to go beyond normalization of monetary policy to pre-pandemic settings instead targeting policy that seeks to restrict activity.

Government bond yields increased a further 77bps over the quarter, with the 10-year bond yield increasing to 3.57%, having increased 1.11% in the March quarter. In June in particular, the 10-year yield reached a peak above 4.1% mid-month, before easing back as market fears about a possible recession began to emerge.

The yield to maturity of the Fixed Interest Fund sits at 3.55% at the end of June, in line with the benchmark yield at 3.56%, having started the year more than 2% lower at 1.46%. When bond yields rise, the market value of those bonds declines, and the extent of that movement is determined by the duration of the bond (or portfolio). Through the calendar year to date the fund has been positioned with a neutral duration relative to the index, and at the end of June fund modified duration sat at 5.2.
