Total returns are calculated using the sell (exit) price, net of management fees and gross of tax as if distributions of income have been reinvested at the actual distribution reinvestment price. The actual returns received by an investor will depend on the timing, buy and exit prices of individual transactions. Return of capital and the performance of your investment in the fund are not guaranteed. Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future performance. Figures showing a period of less than one year have not been adjusted to show an annual total return. Figures for periods of greater than one year are on a per annum compound basis. The current benchmark may not have been the benchmark over all periods shown in the above chart and tables. The calculation of the benchmark performance links the performance of previous benchmarks and the current benchmark over the relevant time periods.

Commentary

Both equity and bond markets fell over the quarter. Underpinning these declines was a move higher in the yield curve, with the US 10-year government bond yield increasing 76bps, exceeding 15 year highs. With inflation remaining stubbornly above the Fed's target of 2-3%, unemployment still below 4% and the oil price on the rise again, markets are repositioning for rates to remain relatively high compared to recent history over the longer term.

The Balanced Fund (Wholesale) (the 'Fund') fell 1.2% net of fees in the quarter ended 30 September 2023, underperforming its benchmark which fell 0.6%. The Balanced Fund (Retail) fell 1.3% net of fees in the quarter, also underperforming the benchmark. This was driven by decline in values across traditional asset classes. Both domestic and international equity markets fell, with our equity portfolios respectively returning -2.2% against the S&P/ASX 200 return of -0.8%, and -0.4% against the MSCI World ex Australia Index return of -0.43%. With the rise in bond yields, our domestic and international fixed income exposures also fell -0.3% and -2.1% respectively.
